

Teresina Chen (Mo Fei)

Teresina Chen (who writes under the pseudonym Mo Fei) was born in Taiwan, moved to States when she was eighteen, and currently are staying in Los Angeles with her family. She graduated with a BS in Accounting from University of Maryland, MIS in Purdue University, then MA in Theology in Fuller Theological Seminary. She is currently a full time writer and speaker, also a founder of Genesis Chinese Writing Ministry Institute which promotes writing on faith.

Teresina is an award winning writer who had won several major literary awards in Taiwan, both for short fiction and essay. Her work has appeared in various literary magazines and newspapers in Taiwan, China and North America. She is the author of five short stories collections which include Love Exists in Reflection, Scarred Face, Scent of Rose in Legend, Portraits of 6 Women, At the Edge of Love. Teresina also has collections of essays which include Could Love be This Way, Into a Higher Ground, Encounters in the Journey, Sunflower in the Snow, Non- Love Letters, Both Sides of Red Carpet.