

Hao Yu-hsiang

Hao Yu-hsiang, Ph.D. of Chinese Literature at National Taiwan University, is currently Professor of the Institute of Taiwanese Literature, National Chung Cheng University. As one of the most representative writers and critics in Taiwan, Dr. Hao has been regularly awarded for her achievements in creative writing. The literary prizes she has won are The Yearly Best Book of China Times Book Review, The Emerging Novelist of Unitas, and the Literary Awards of China Times, Central Daily News, and Taipei City, as well as GIO Fine Screenplay Award. Her publications include, among others, the short stories “Nether Story,” “That Summer, The Most Peaceful Sea,” “Annie the First Love,” “Inner Challenge,” “Washing”; collections of prose, “Sadness Taken Away by the Spring,” “A Blinking Dream: My Travelogue of China,” “A Secret Travel in Closet”; a screenplay, “A Case of Squirrels' Suicide”; and research works, “The Time of Fictionalization—On Contemporary Taiwanese Literature,” “The Fin de Siecle of Eros—On the Novels of Contemporary Taiwanese Female Writers,” “Nuo: A Study of Chinese Ritual Theatre.” She also edits The Tutorial of Contemporary Taiwanese Literature: A Fiction Reader.